Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Morrison et al. (2006/0143430).

What is claimed is:

Morrison

1. A method for determining computer system software load process, comprising:

See the title and the abstract.

loading computer system software on a computer; and

See sect. 0073.

providing a marker file in said loaded computer system software, said marker file indicating whether said loaded computer system software was loaded in a computer manufacturer's factory, loaded by a system restoration CD (SRCD), or loaded by downloading an image.

See sect. 0017-0018, 0021 and the last two lines of table 3 on page 4 (for ex., distribution information).

2. The method of claim 1, further comprising: when a program running on said computer abnormally terminates and said computer is able to send said marker file to a central authority, sending said marker file to said central authority by said computer.

See sect. 0028.

3. The method of claim 2, wherein

Art Unit: 2193

said marker file is used by said computer manufacturer to trace a cause of why said program running on said computer abnormally terminates.

4. The method of claim 1, further comprising: when a program running on said computer abnormally terminates and said computer is not able to send said marker file to a central authority, sending said marker file to said central authority by said computer after said computer reboots.

See sect. 0003 and 0024.

5. The method of claim 4, wherein said marker file is used by said computer manufacturer to trace a cause of why said program running on said computer abnormally terminates.

See sect. 0006.

6. The method of claim 1, wherein said marker file is dynamically generated when said loaded computer system software was loaded by downloading an image.

See sects. 0020-0021.

7. The method of claim 1, wherein said marker file is a static marker file loaded from said system restoration CD (SRCD) when said loaded computer system software was loaded by said system restoration CD (SRCD).

See sect. 0022 in which the required data is stored in a file.

8. The method of claim 1, wherein said marker file, when said loaded computer system software was loaded in a computer manufacturer's factory, is either dynamically generated or a static marker file loaded by said factory.

See the rejection of claim 1.

9. The method of claim 1, wherein

See sect. 0006.

Art Unit: 2193

said loaded computer system software is an operating system.

- 10. The method of claim 1, wherein said loaded computer system software is a device driver.
- 11. The method of claim 1, wherein said computer manufacturer is an OEM.

See sect. 0003.

As per claim 12, see the rejection of claim 7 above.

Claim 13 is rejected in via claim 7 in view of claim 4 and claims 14 and 16 are rejected via Claims 7 in view of claim 3.

The features of claim 15 are taught via claim 7 in view of claim 5.

In reference to claims 17-19, see the rejection of claim 7 in view of claim 8.

As per claims 20-22, see the rejection of claims 9-11 above.

Claim 23-24 are rejected in via claims 1-2.

In reference to claim 25, see the rejection of claim 4.

The features of claims 26-27 are taught via claims 10-11.
